

ABSTRACT

A roll comprising polymeric foam having a density of at least about 6 pounds per cubic foot and a compression force deflection of at least about 2.5 pounds per square inch. The roll may be used in image forming devices, and may be specifically employed as a toner adder roll in electrophotographic image forming devices for toner applications.